

11th November 2022

Good Morning all

With the night's drawing in and our children probably spending more time indoors (and in some cases online) please remember to keep an eye on what our children and young people access on the internet.

We want to help you make sure your children access the internet in a fun and safe way! Please find below some great resources to help you set parental controls and restrictions up on your child's technology devices:

<https://saferinternet.org.uk/guide-and-resource/parents-and-carers>

We also want to highlight some recent guidance that have been released relating to the recent trend of potentially dangerous online challenges:

<https://saferinternet.org.uk/guide-and-resource/online-challenges-advice-for-parents>

We plan to have an E-Safety table at the Christmas Fair in December, Christmas is often a time for new digital devices. Please come along and share your thoughts.

Please feel free to check our E-Safety section on the Foxwood website for more information and helpful links!

<https://www.foxwood.notts.sch.uk/parents/e-safety>

Kind regards

James Hutchinson
Headteacher